Cactus Man can scare all villains away with his spines!

Plants have amazing superpowers! They are adapted to survive on the land, the sea, and in the air. They survive in hot and cold climates. Choose a kind of plant, and imagine it is a super hero. You may want to do some research about your plant and how it survives in its environment. Draw it, and then tell the story of its superpowers. What amazing things can this plant do? Does it have a villain? Does it have a sidekick? How does it survive? Describe a day in the life of this plant super hero.
